

Acceptable Computer Use Policy

Calvary Lutheran High School seeks to provide our students with up-to-date educational resources and technology, including the Internet. To use the Internet independently, outside of a regular class activity, all students must obtain parental permission and agree to follow the policies outlined below, which will be kept on file as a legally binding agreement.

Access to the Internet provides students with many educational opportunities, but some Internet material may contain items that are illegal, defamatory, inaccurate, or offensive. Therefore, all users must understand and practice proper ethical and legal use.

While our intent is to make Internet access available for appropriate educational and recreational use, students may find ways to access other materials as well. It is the user's responsibility to not initiate access to improper material or to immediately exit if inappropriate material is accidentally found. If such material is found or appears, the principal or supervising teacher should be notified immediately after the student exits the site.

We believe the benefits of access to the Internet exceed the disadvantages, and parents and guardians have the responsibility for setting and conveying standards regarding its use. Students have the obligation of abiding by these standards. Although the students' use of the Internet is supervised, Calvary Lutheran High School does not possess failsafe barriers or censors to Internet material.

School use of the Internet is a privilege, not a right, and inappropriate use will result in the revocation of this privilege. Calvary reserves the right to review and monitor any computer use and to make the determination whether specific uses are inappropriate.

The following policies exist to ensure the ethical, legal, and proper use of the Internet and school computers:

1. Accessing the accounts and files of others without permission is prohibited. Students should take appropriate steps to protect their own information and should never provide personal information to people they don't know.
2. Attempts to subvert the network or to impair the functionality of the network or individual computers or to bypass restrictions set by Calvary are prohibited. Students are not to change the settings or functions of any computer.
3. Improper use or distribution of information is prohibited. This includes copyright violations, such as software piracy, plagiarism, or a violation of the Honor Code.
4. Using the Internet or school network for commercial purposes or in support of illegal activities is prohibited.
5. Students are limited to appropriate educational material. A simple standard is, "Would I show this material to my parents and teachers?" Calvary reserves the right to monitor and review any computer use or material.

Student User Agreement

I understand and will abide by the procedures and Acceptable Use Policy for Calvary Lutheran High School for independent access of the electronic resources of Calvary. I further understand that any violation of the regulations is unethical, and should I commit any violation, my access privileges may be suspended or revoked, school disciplinary and/or appropriate legal action may be taken.

In consideration for the privilege of using Calvary's electronic resources and in consideration for having access to the information obtained via it, I hereby release and agree to hold harmless Calvary from any and all claims or damages of any nature arising from my access, use, or inability to access or use the computers or network system.

Honor Code

Section 1. Statement of Purpose

Calvary Lutheran High School strives to build a lifelong network of young adults centered on spiritual growth, fellowship, stewardship, and learning. In conjunction with this goal, it is important to emphasize honesty and integrity as values we uphold.

Section 2. Objectives

The Honor Code at Calvary Lutheran High School aims to accomplish the following:

- Ensure that students, faculty, and administrators accept personal responsibility for upholding academic honesty
- Prevent any students from gaining an unfair advantage over other students through academic misconduct
- Help students place higher value on knowledge and learning and not permit grades to become the primary focus
- Clarify what constitutes academic misconduct among students and the expectations of the faculty and their peers
- Cultivate an environment where academic dishonesty is not tolerated among the students

Section 3. Student Responsibilities

Students are expected to act according to the highest ethical standards.

Academic misconduct is any act that does or could improperly distort student grades or other student academic records.

HONOR COVENANT

“Righteousness guards the man of integrity.” Proverbs 13:6

As a student at Calvary Lutheran High School, I understand and accept my responsibility to uphold the Honor Code at all times. I am making the following agreement my personal pledge as it pertains to all graded assignments and assessments:

- I will engage in group work, collaboration, and assistance for class work and assignments only in the manner outlined by that teacher.
- In order to complete a graded assignment or assessment, I will only access the internet, instructor’s editions of the text, Cliff Notes, and/or any other “resource” in the proper manner as specified for that course.
- I will compare my finished work with other students only in the manner directed by the teacher.
- I will only share or receive notes, worksheets, papers, or answers as specified by the teacher in all situations.
- I will properly document and site any material I reference when it has been published or presented by any other person. (plagiarism)
- I will intentionally protect and preserve my true academic records.
- I will conduct myself honestly in all academic matters.

Student’s Signature

As a parent/guardian of a student at Calvary Lutheran High School, I understand and accept my responsibility to enforce the Honor Code with my student at all times. I am in agreement with the school’s policy, and the school has my support in helping to ensure my student lives and acts honestly.
